Aang Wiadi

Digital transformation of your business
West Java, Indonesia

Summary

I am an experienced web developer and software engineer with over 12 years of hands-on experience. Aang is proficient in a variety of technologies, including C#, PHP, and Laravel, which he leverages to create advanced web applications that are efficient and scalable.

In addition to his strong backend skills, I excel in database management, with extensive expertise in PostgreSQL, Oracle, MySQL, and other relational and non-relational databases. I am also adept at designing robust database architectures that ensure data integrity and optimize performance, which is essential for handling large-scale applications.

I am also proficient in Linux system administration and containerization technologies such as Docker. His mastery of Linux allows him to efficiently deploy and maintain applications across multiple server environments. With Docker, I streamline the deployment process, ensuring consistency across development, testing, and production environments.

Throughout my career, I have always demonstrated a passion for innovation and problem solving and thrive in dynamic environments, being able to leverage my technical skills to deliver high-quality solutions that meet and exceed client expectations.

Aang's combination of technical expertise in web development, software engineering, database management, Linux administration, and Docker containerization makes him a versatile professional capable of driving success across a variety of projects and teams.
